DON NEWTON: DRAWING WITH POWER

DON NEWTON got his start on the Phantom at Charlton Comics before making his mark at DC Comics on Aquaman, the New Gods, Batman, and the Shazam! comic in 1978, featuring his childhood favorite character Captain Marvel. His love of bodybuilding brought a knowledge of human anatomy to the strips he drew, imbuing his characters with a sense of strength and dynamism few could match. But his death in 1984 at just 49 years old, tragically cut short an artistic career that was yet to reach its peak. Now for the first time, this COLOR HARDCOVER pays tribute to the Bronze Age fan-favorite artist. Written by JAY WILLSON and CHRIS IRVING, it includes a comprehensive overview of Newton's life and career, personal anecdotes and tributes, plus private photos and a wealth of unseen work by the artist. With a new cover collaboration by DON NEWTON and JOE RUBINSTEIN!
